About Astrid

Astrid inherited her shamanic gift from her grandfather and learned to embody a contemporary version based on the foundation of oneness, that everything in creation is connected. She left the corporate world when she realized her life's purpose is to be of service as a modern shaman. Her mission is to help people integrate ancient wisdom into modern life. Her method is holistic, blending shamanism and contemporary tools to build bridges between the visible and invisible worlds to a measurable outcome.

In over thirty years of global practice, Astrid has integrated her shamanic gifts to work with individuals and professionals alike.

After 45 minutes with Astrid, my entire perspective of myself, my business and my mission completely transformed. It was if a veil was lifted so that I could finally understand the “why” of the situations I was wrestling with and trying to make sense of on my own. I gained a birds-eye view of the big picture and left feeling more energized, empowered and certain of myself and my direction than I ever have.

Astrid's sessions have been positively contributing to my overall wellbeing since 2009. After a session with her, I experience clarity, a peaceful presence both physically and mentally, and a boost in my creativity and productivity! I appreciate Astrid's down-to-earth approach. Her method is both profound and applicable in daily life.

I have had several healing journeys within the safety and clarity of Shamanic Coaching with Astrid. The most recent was to get under my concerns around being seen/heard as I approach my delivery of my first TedX Talk. I also had a desire to build stronger personal boundaries. Astrid, as always, sensed into what I was feeling and what my needs were so skillfully that I could just relax back into the deep trance that her guidance, chanting and drumming takes me to and get the wisdom from all the supportive helpers that always show up to assist me with my needs.
